About the Session / Event

The session started with a welcome for our faculty members and the speaker.

Objective of the Programme

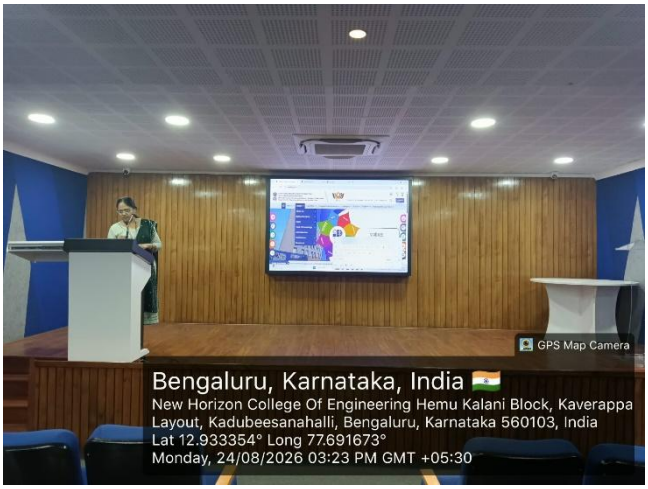

To attain the knowledge about Intellectual Property Rights and the types of IPR.

The session began with an introduction session on 'what is a Patent' and the policy requirements. The faculty group were given a task to create a novelty product. There were given materials like chart, colour pens, glue, and scissors to come up with an innovative greeting card.

The activity was followed with further discussion on how to ideate and check whether there is already an existing product or a design. To identify the publication there is a need to check the website "WIPO patent Scope" through keywords and the relevance. Furthermore the discussion was done about the format for applying for the patent in terms of Title, Objective, Detailed description, Claims and Abstract.

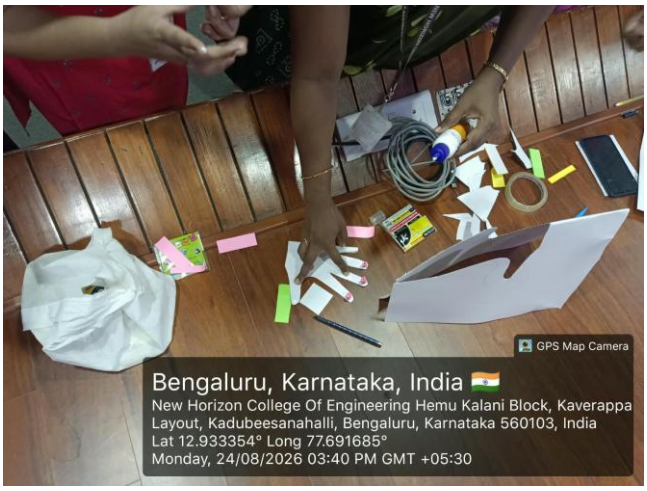

Outcome of the Session: It was an interactive session, and faculty were able to connect to the requirements of the patent.
